RANGER REGISTER

THE OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY RANGER ASSOCIATION, INC. DEDICATED TO THE IDEALS AND PRINCIPLES OF THE AMERICAN MILITARY RANGER.

The 2005 Annual Ranger Muster (ARM-2005) will be held on 5-8 July in Columbus, GA. USARA will have its HQ (Hospitality Quarters) in the new Hilton Garden Inn Columbus, 1500 Bradley Lakes Boulevard. Reserve now. Details on pages 3, 10 and 11.

FROM THE COMMANDING OFFICER'S TENT

Rangers, this special Annual Ranger Muster Edition is coming to you only by way of this "E-zine" form, due entirely to the time critical nature of the situation. We have only six weeks until we kick off ARM 2005.

Suffice to say, your attendance is naturally and greatly encouraged. As you know, USARA comes back to Fort Benning every other year (with each Region rotating as host in-between). At Benning, we join with the Ranger Regiment and the Ranger Training Brigade in their celebration of Ranger Rendezvous Week, where we coordinate a number of our events with theirs.

We will be headquartered at the new Columbus Hilton Garden Inn. The registration form is enclosed and can be also found at www.Ranger.org The event schedules can also be found there.

For those of you who haven't been to Columbus and Fort Benning in a while, you will be surprised at the many changes that have taken place. In addition, there are many other things to do in the area. At a previous ARM my wife Susan and I drive down to the National POW Museums at Andersonville, on the site of the infamous Civil War prison camp. This is a must see, as it has incorporated the history of United States military prisoners of war, from the Revolutionary War to the present.

USARA BOARD MEMBERS STRICKEN

Late word from Frank Casey, USARA Executive V.P., is that two members of the USARA Board of Directors are having serious health problems. USARA Secretary Gregg Orth had been hospitalized for knee replacement surgery and has had some complications. The latest of which has been an open wound on his heel not healing. Gregg's wife, Judy, has kept Frank up to date and Gregg remains in our prayers for getting that wound healed up.

USARA Treasurer Tom Herring has been in the hospital since early may with congestive heart failure. He has had a couple of stints placed in arteries and is presently on a ventilator. Tom is one tough old cuss, but he could really use our prayers right now.

WARNING!

USARA President Maguire has signed up for the Shotgun Range at this year's ARM –Stay at least 10 feet behind him and do not make any sudden moves!!

This year, Susan and I will work in the Woodruff museum, known as Port Columbus Civil War Naval Museum Center, at 1002 Victory Drive (<http://www.portcolumbus.org>), and the FDR home at Warm Springs, Georgia.

So, in addition to all the activities and fraternity with young active duty Rangers, and not-so-young former Rangers, it'll be a full week.

Please join us!

Steve Maguire
President

Register Now for the USARA Annual Ranger Muster 5-8 July 2005

USARA's Annual Ranger Muster 2005 (ARM-2005) will take place from 5-8 July 2005, coinciding with Col. Nixon's change of command ceremony on Friday, 8 July. There's no better way to spend your vacation week (4th of July is that Monday) than with the US Army Ranger Association back at Fort Benning!

Registration includes USARA golf shirt, hospitality room, beverages, and other operational expenses. For more information, see the attached registration form and events schedule.

ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL

As all of you know January was the month for our annual members to renew their memberships in the Association. When renewals come to our PO Box, the checks are deposited in the bank and the deposit slips are forwarded to Tom Herring. The info on renewals and/or new members, life applications, etc. is forwarded to USARA Secretary, Gregg Orth. Some of this data, especially new members is passed to Ranger Register editor, McGeek, so he can get them on his mailing list for the Ranger Register. If you have not yet renewed your membership for 2005—PLEASE DO IT NOW!

Annual dues are $30.00 ($15.00 for active duty Rangers E-5 and below). Send your renewals to:

$500,000 FOR POINTE DU HOC PRESERVATION

Site At Risk Due to Coastal Erosion

WASHINGTON D.C.- (May 12, 2005) U.S. Representative Chet Edwards has secured $500,000 to preserve Pointe du Hoc, the historic cliff on Omaha Beach in Normandy France that was scaled by Lt. Col. Earl Rudder and his Rudder's Rangers on the June 6, 1944 D-Day Invasion. The funding was added by Edwards in the 2006 Military Quality of Life and Veterans Appropriations Subcommittee. Edwards is ranking member.

"Pointe du Hoc stands today as a sacred symbol to the world of the American GI's unwavering courage in World War II," said Edwards. "We must preserve this hallowed ground for future generations."

Pointe du Hoc, the most historic site of the D-Day Invasion, is currently at risk due to continuing coastal erosion. It is critically important to survey the site, identify culturally significant resources and preserve the site for historic remembrance. Since 2001, the observation post has been closed to the public. The site contains valuable historic information about the battle and a plaque erected by the State of Texas honoring Lt. Col. Earl Rudder, who later became President of Texas A&M University.

"Mrs. Margaret Rudder was a special friend of mine and while I never met General Rudder, his brave leadership has been an inspiration to me, countless Aggies, and people throughout the world," said Edwards. "When I visited Pointe du Hoc on the 50th anniversary of D-Day in 1995, I would have never imagined that this monument to American courage might be lost forever by erosion. That would be a national and international tragedy.

"I am deeply grateful that Dr. David Woodcock at A&M's College of Architecture brought this issue to my attention and has already been working to preserve the site. We need ensure that A&M continues its work to preserve historic artifacts at the site and determine if it is possible to stop the erosion and ultimate destruction of Pointe du Hoc," said Edwards.

David Woodcock, Director of the Historic Resources Imaging Lab at the College of Architecture said, "Few sites have more dramatic power than Pointe du Hoc in Normandy, where the Second Ranger Division [sic] under Earl Rudder scaled the cliffs on D-Day in 1944 to destroy Nazi gun emplacements that commanded the Utah and Omaha beaches. The site is under immediate threat from coastal erosion and from a significant increase in tourism. The support and leadership of Congressman Edwards will provide a definitive and comprehensive record of the entire battle site; creating a faithful record of the event that will ensure its effective management and aid interpretation of the site, to fully acknowledge the acts of bravery of these American heroes for future generations."

FAKE WARRIORS AND LYING WANNABES

By Henry Mark Holzer
Via the Internet

As the authors of FAKE WARRIORS, IDENTIFYING, EXPOSING AND PUNISHING THOSE WHO FALSIFY THEIR MILITARY SERVICE, Henry and Erika Holzer are often asked whether Fake Warriors "really" cause any harm. The following email answers that question:

"Your fake warrior information is intensely interesting to me. Before reading your e-mails I had never heard the term. I would love to read your book but feel it may be too painful. In 1998 I married a man who was 58 years old at the time, second marriage for both of us. From the beginning of our relationship, one of his main topics of conversation was about his experience in Vietnam. He claimed to be a marine Lieutenant, Force Recon, platoon leader and served his time in Khe Sanh. This was in 1967 and 1968. He claimed to have gone to officer's training on Paris [sic] Island in the summer during his college years. He also claimed to have been stationed in California, had special navigation schooling in Connecticut and a training cruise in the Mediterranean. He said he was wounded three times, very superficial however, like a broken finger from diving into a foxhole.

He talked about his missions in the hills surrounding Khe Sanh, picking up body parts, clothes rotting in the jungle, his body guard sergeant, radioing air strikes. He said he threw his medals over the White House fence in a war protest just as his hero, John Kerry had done. Then I realized! most of what he talked about had been on a History Channel television program recently. His favorite programs seemed to be about war and weapons. When I questioned him too closely about specific details he would start to cry and tell me it was too painful for him to talk about anymore. He was a very troubled and angry man and after less than three years of marriage I packed up what I could in my car and drove halfway across the country hoping he would never be able to find me. I was 60 years old and would not put up with his threats and anger anymore.

I left October 1, 2001. I hired a private detective and found out his life history as told to me was mostly a lie. He claimed to have graduated from Lehigh University with a mechanical engineering degree. He left after three years, no degree there. He claimed to have an MBA from Temple. He really did earn a degree there but it was in business and economics. On his sworn, under penalty of perjury, divorce papers he said he had a chemical engineering degree and the MBA. I also found a secret bank statement saying he was an attorney. Next I contacted Marine Corps Headquarters In Arlington, Virginia to find out if he had ever been in the Corps. I spoke to them on the phone and they could find no record! of him, either by name or social security number. I then wrote to Headquarters asking for the same information so I could have written proof. Same answer, he never was a Marine.

This person would write me letters accusing me of punishing him again for being in Vietnam, just like he was spat upon when he returned to this country. In his divorce papers he claimed to be suffering Post Traumatic Stress Syndrome because of his service in the war. As far as I know he has never claimed any benefits for being a veteran. All he wanted was money from me as I was economically more well off than he was. It took three years and two months to get a divorce from this man and it is not over yet. He caused and is causing alot of suffering. And I think there is nothing I can do about any of the lies, except share. Thank you for reading my letter. I wish I was the only person this had ever happened to.”

Editor's note: Thanks to Mark and Erika Holzer for their good work in ferreting out these wannabes who are lower than pond scum. Keep up the good work Mark and Erika, we Rangers love you.

BRAC INFORMATION OF INTEREST

The 6th round of BRAC (Base Realignment and Closures), has been in the news of late, but the following changes are a few that might be of interest to infantrymen and Rangers.

- Realign Fort Bragg, NC, by relocating the 7th Special Forces Group to Eglin AFB, FL, and by activating the 4th Brigade Combat Team, 82d Airborne Division and relocating some European-based forces to Fort Bragg, NC.
- Realign Fort Knox, KY, by relocating the Armor Center and School to Fort Benning, GA, to accommodate the activation of an Infantry Brigade Combat Team at Fort Knox, and the relocation of engineer, military police, and combat service support units from Europe and Korea.
- Realign Fort Bliss, TX by relocating air defense artillery units to Fort Sill and relocating the 1st Armored Division from Germany to Fort Bliss. Realign Fort Sill by relocating an artillery brigade to Fort Bliss.
- Realign Fort Hood, TX, by relocating a Brigade Combat Team to Fort Carson, CO.
- Realign Fort Hood, TX by relocating maneuver battalions, a support battalion, and aviation units to Fort Bliss, TX. Realign Fort Riley, KS by inactivating various units, activating a Brigade Combat Team and relocating 1st Infantry Division units from Germany to Fort Riley, KS.
- Realign Fort Campbell, KY, by relocating an attack aviation battalion to Fort Riley.
- Close Fort Monroe, VA. Relocate the US Army Training & Doctrine Command (TRADOC) to Fort Eustis, VA.

POW /MIA MISSION UPDATE

Ranger Mike McClintock, better known as McGeek, editor of the Ranger Register, is also a member of the San Francisco-Ho Chi Minh City Sister City Committee. One of the activities that he has been pursuing while a member of the Sister City Committee Board of Directors is a full accounting for all U.S. military personnel MIA or KIA in Southeast Asia. Recently, McGeek had the opportunity to spend some time one on one with the new U.S. Ambassador to Vietnam, Michael W. Marine. McGeek asked Ambassador Marine for an update on two U.S. Army Rangers known to have been killed in Vietnam; CPT Humbert R. (Rocky) Versace and MSG Kenneth M. Roraback. The U.S. Army Ranger Association wishes to extend its gratitude and thanks to Ambassador Marine and to the men and women of the Joint POW/MIA Accounting Command (JPAC) for the work that they do. Below is the Ambassador's response to McGeek's inquiry.

EMBASSY OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
Hanoi

May 5, 2005

AMBASSADOR

Mr. Michael R. McClintock
Editor, USARA Ranger
2323 Armada Way
San Mateo, CA 94404-1526

Dear Mr. McClintock:

Thanks again for all your help during my recent visit to San Francisco and for your contributions as a member of the Board of Directors of the San Francisco-Ho Chi Minh City Sister City Committee.

Now, I would like to turn to the issues you raised in your letter of March 21, 2005 regarding the interest of the U.S. Army Ranger Association in our ongoing efforts to achieve the fullest possible accounting of all Americans lost during the Indochina conflict. As Ambassador, I am deeply involved in the work of obtaining the assistance of Vietnamese residents and officials at all levels to advance our Government's efforts to resolve all remaining POW/MIA cases.

I am very aware of the two cases of particular interest to you and the U.S. Army Ranger Association, Inc. Both of these cases continue to be among the highest priority cases under continuing investigation by the Joint POW/MIA Accounting Command (JPAC). CPT Humbert R. (Rocky) Versace and MSG Kenneth M. Roraback were both captured relatively early in the war. Both were reportedly executed. Their names appeared on a list of Americans who died in captivity prepared by the Provisional Revolutionary Government and presented to U.S. negotiators prior to the signing of the 1973 Paris Accords. Efforts to recover both individuals began immediately at the time of their capture. Those efforts continue today.

In the case of CPT Versace, a JPAC recovery team just completed a one month excavation operation along Canal 14 in Ca Mau Province near the southern most tip of Vietnam. The selection of this excavation site was based on a combination of witness statements, including the leader of the team that allegedly buried CPT Versace, and the recent findings of a Human Remains Dog Team that surveyed the area. The JPAC Recovery Team was unable complete the excavation, however, and we plan to return as soon as the weather conditions become favorable.

In the case of MSG Roraback, JPAC investigators have debriefed many former cadre and staff members of the former organization that operated the camps where American POWs were held. These debriefs have included individuals who should have known where MSG Roraback was buried. Thus far, we have not develop concrete information on the location of his remains. Of course, JPAC will continue its investigative and research efforts to locate witnesses.

Since 1988, when the first American-Vietnamese combined search teams started working in Vietnam, both of these cases have remained a high priority. Dozens of investigations in Vietnam, the work of hundreds of American specialists, and thousands of man-hours have been devoted to bringing these two American heroes home. With continued persistence, we believe we will succeed. Until They are Home!

Sincerely,

Michael W. Marine

GEN ANDREW GOODPASTER

*Excerpts from article by Adam Bernstein
Washington Post Staff Writer
May 17, 2005*

GEN (Ret.) Andrew J. Goodpaster, former presidential adviser and commander of NATO died May 16 of prostate cancer at Walter Reed Army Medical Center at the age of 90. GEN Goodpaster spent more than four decades as a soldier and statesman, in which time he saw combat in World War II, was deputy commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam and served four presidents. He retired as commander of NATO forces in 1974, and returned to active service three years later to become the 51st superintendent of West Point, his alma mater.

During World War II, he led an engineer battalion over a minefield under hostile fire, for which he received the Distinguished Service Cross, the second-highest military award for valor after the Medal of Honor. His other decorations included the Silver Star, two awards of the Legion of Merit and two awards of the Purple Heart.

From 1950 to 1954 he served as special assistant to the chief of staff of Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe from 1950 to 1954 and assisted GEN Dwight D. Eisenhower, the NATO commander for part of that time.

GEN Andrew J. Goodpaster

Later, as president, Eisenhower asked GEN Goodpaster to serve as staff secretary in the White House. Returning to the field he served as assistant division commander for operations with the 3rd Infantry Division in Würzburg, Germany. From there Goodpaster advanced through a series of sensitive positions in the 1960s on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. President Lyndon B. Johnson used him as an intermediary with Eisenhower for military suggestions in the escalating Vietnam War. "President Johnson asked the question: Can we win in Vietnam and what do we have to do?" Gen. Goodpaster told U.S. News & World Report decades later. "That question came to me."

He advocated a stronger military role to win the war and became frustrated that the political will never materialized. He served as military adviser to the six-man U.S. team involved in the Paris peace talks with the North Vietnamese in summer 1968 and spent the rest of the year as deputy to Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr., commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam. From 1969 to 1974, he was NATO supreme allied commander.

Survivors include his wife of 65 years, Dorothy Anderson Goodpaster of Washington; two daughters, Susan Sullivan of Alexandria and Anne Batte of Salisbury, N.C.; seven grandchildren; and a great-grandson.

SGT Orlando W. Chada

The United States Army Ranger Association honors SGT Orlando W. (Bill) Chada, who passed away in January 2005. SGT Chada's family made contributions in his name to both USARA and the Ranger Memorial Foundation.

SGT Chada served with the 4th Ranger Company and was awarded the Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman's Badge, Korean Service Medal, Silver Star, Bronze Star, Army of Occupation Medal (Japan), Sr. Parachute Badge, UN Service Medal, National Defense Service Medal, Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal and WWII Victory medal.

Ranger Chada participated in the construction of an ICBM radar station in Greenland during the Cold War. He worked in law enforcement and was an Oregon State trooper. He was a member of the Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of foreign Wars.

Op Order for RENO Ranger Reunion 2005

Western Region Rangers May also be interested in this Ranger Reunion in Reno, NV. USARA Recruiters will be there, bring your unassigned ranger buddies.

When: Aug 18---21 (arrive Thurs 18 Aug 05, effect egress Sun 21 Aug 05)

Where: Silver Legacy Hotel & Casino---Reno, NV

Cost: $220 per room, for the entire 3-nite stay; plus $25 per Ranger for Hospitality Suite & entertainment costs.

You must send Dave Lukoskie a check for $125. He'll put $25 towards the Entertainment Fund, and the other $100 goes down as a deposit for your room. You pay the balance of the room cost at "check-out" time. When you send him the check for $125, tell him if you want 1 King bed or 2 Queens, and SMOKING vs NON. If 2 guys share a room, they'll only pay $110 each, for their entire 3-night stay.

There is a FREE shuttle bus to take you from the Reno Airport to the Legacy, so a rental car is not necessary. We'll plan on having a Banquet 1 night, and possibly go to the shooting range one morning (hangovers permitting). Let's spread the word, and get this thing started. For those of you, who've been to these gatherings before, you know how well it works, and how LARGE a time it can be.

Standard "entertainment" has been laid on, as always, for 2nd night there (Aug 19th)**
